

INDIGENOUS EDUCATION PROGRAM

Funded by the Indigenous Advancement Strategy, GSL has partnered with Ngoonbi Co-operative Society to deliver our Indigenous Education Program.

This program supports Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander students with a disability, living in the Cairns and Kuranda areas, to achieve educational outcomes.

Service delivery is focused on :

Toddlers and Young Children – Preparing children and their families for the transition into a formal mainstream education setting.

Secondary School Aged students – Supporting youth to set post school goals and remain engaged with learning.

School Leavers and Young Adults – Preparing school leavers for a competitive job market, and young adults for the responsibilities of adulthood.

Our aim is to achieve Indigenous outcomes and under the Children and Schooling Program by:

Improving school readiness and skills for school entry, and re-entry of those who have disengaged, for Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander students with a disability.

Improving engagement and attendance rates of Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander students with a disability.

Improving completion rates of Year 12, or equivalent by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students with a disability.

Increasing the capacity of Indigenous families with disabled children to engage with schools and other education providers.
